Overnight, that the Pope was in the Catholic Church of Mayfield, Pa., will deliver the Independence Day address before the Somerset County Ku Klux Klan on July 4.

This invitation to Father Brady is locked upon as proof of the esteem which everywhere in the country has for him. His prompt acceptance shows was done.

If Americans of all kinds could get closer together, talk to each other, know each other, there would be less hatred, less race and religious prejudice and bigotry.

Americans should work, united, for the greater glory and prosperity of the country, each allowing for the other, without interference, to believe as he chooses.

$1,000 GIRL SEEN IN PAWTUCKET

Pawtucket, July 2.—Thomas Jordan, manager of a fling station at Exchange street and Broadway, stated today he saw a girl on a truck yesterday morning he is sure was Dorothy Mason, missing 15-year-old Dorchester girl for whom a reward of $1,000 is offered. Jordan said she was one of three girls who rode into the fling station, then changing to another truck bound toward Boston. At that time he knew nothing about the girl being missing. Dorothy left her Dorchester home May 28 with a chum, Louise Powers. Her father, Dr. Gilbert Mason, offers the reward for her return.

'FRATERNAL' PLEA IN COURT A BOOMERANG

Providence, N. Y., July 2 (AP).—Members of the Masons, Knights of Columbus, Elks, Old Folgers or any fraternal order pleading guilty to violations of the national laws would receive the extreme penalty of death by the nature of their oaths, they should know better, Judge Frederick L. Dutcher declared in county court here today.

Judge Dutcher, formerly a high official in the Grand Lodge of Massachusetts, warned Attorney James C. O'Brien, who appeared for a client on the grounds he "was a member of the Elks and was a member of the court and should receive the extreme penalty of death by the nature of their oaths, they should know better, Judge Frederick L. WHEELER REVEALS BAY STATE SECRETS WITH NAMES AND AMOUNTS

Revelations of enormous sums poured out by the Anti-Saloon League in support of prohibition, exceeding even the expenditures of the major political parties, were made by General Counsel Wayne B. Wheeler to the Senate slush fund committee at Washington today.

Wheeler submitted reports showing that through 13 State organizations, including Massachusetts, the League disposed of $6,487,291 in the last six years, and had sought to raise a $50,000 campaign fund prior to the opening of the congressional primaries this year.

His figures showed that a total of $317,640 has been spent by the Anti-Saloon people in Massachusetts, and he furnished the names of a number of local contributors to the abortive campaign fund.

PONZI IN SUICIDE DEFIT TO FULLER FROM TEXAS

Charles Ponzi made a new move today, according to reports from Texas, when he threatened suicide.

The post of Ponzi's telegram leaked out in Houston, Texas, while some were being taken toward his extradition to Massachusetts.

According to Houston informants, Ponzi threatened to Governor Fuller that he will commit suicide if he is compelled to go to State Prison and not allowed to leave the country as he desires and as he attempted to do.

The general counsel asked the committee to investigate the Constitutional Liberty League of Massachusetts as regards their expenditure for political purposes. To this Thomas J. Wheeler, of Boston, representing the Constitutional Liberty League, replied his organization had anticipated the request and would gladly comply.

COULMAN IN CHARGE

The Constitutional Liberty League of Massachusetts was undoubtedly mentioned by Wheeler because one of its vice-presidents, Julian Coulman, Boston attorney, had charge of the general action of the case for modification of the National Act earlier this session to the senate prohibition committee.

According to the figures submitted to the committee by Wheeler, the expenditures of the Anti-Saloon League in Massachusetts were $7,448 in 1919; $43,348 in 1920; $41,639 in 1921; $43,230 in 1922; $44,464 in 1923; $51,189 in 1924; and $12,152 until June 1 of 1925.

He said the league raised only $10,959.28 for a 1925 campaign, but among the local contributors being Rufus Bailey, Symonds, $1,000; Charles M. Cox, Melrose Highlands, $500; Robert T. Ford, Boston, $200; and from W. H. Griffin, Bridgewater, Ct.

A resolution was created when Senator George D. Upton, D., of Georgia, had been paid by the league while prohibition was pending in Congress.

Wheeler brought to the committee financial reports from ten states where $2,259,979 was spent in 1924. Previously he had given the committee reports showing $2,712,821 in the States of New York, New Jersey and Ohio.

Wheeler, questioned about his activity in putting over the National Act, said: "I should say that I am glad to do more work in getting it through than any other person. He got up tonight with it."

"Yes, but you have helped draft it, didn't you?" asked Senator Reid (R., Mo.).

"Yes."

BY THE STATES.

The State expenditures, which Wheeler filed, were one of the high spots in his testimony.

In Illinois the disbursements were $126,791 in the year ending June 30, 1925; $224,833 in May 1, 1921; $113,247 to May 1, 1922; $19,073 to May 1, 1923; $217,924 to May 1, 1924;

TAX RATE OVER $32, NICHOLS ANNOUNCES

parties from the general practice of past administrations, especially the Curley administration, valuations have been increased on homes and suburban properties rather than business properties downtown.

Also new single and multiple dwellings apartment houses in the downtown section and on many other structures still in the process of building, but since the last tax assessment many apartment houses and individual homes have been created.

When the Mayor took office he announced that the tax rate probably would jump to about $32, and declared that the rate really should have been raised more than $2 in the final year of the Curley administration. The announcement today bore out his prediction.

Mayor Nichols also announced that the estimated valuation of real and personal property in the Hub is $1,012,000,000, an increase of between $50,000,000 and $60,000,000 over last year's valuation.

Figures drawn up by Budget Commissioner Charles J. Fox reveal that it costs nearly $18,500 a day, every day in the year, to run the city, exclusive of schools, pensions, county and city debt requirements, county maintenance requirements, State warrants and authorized loans.

Whether the jump in the tax rate, under a Mayor with Republican affiliations, will have an effect on city administration supported, Republican candidates in the State election, was a subject of much speculation at City Hall.

The tax bills are due to be sent out in September, just before the election.

About What Do Men Lie Mosi? You Tell!

What do New England men lie most about? That is what a Massachusetts woman asks in a letter to the Boston Evening American. Between golfing and fishing, she says, it is a hard matter to get the truth from a man these days.

Now what does the notorious male lie most about? In order to get a cross-section of opinion, the Evening American poses the question to its women readers and the answer is: "Lies." For the first time on this subject the Evening American will pay $15 for the second set, $5 and for the third set $1. All women are eligible whether married or not.

THERE ARE OTHERS.

Of course golf and fishing aren't the only things that men lie about. You've heard them tell about their radium, the speed of their cars, their income tax, their stock market, their profits, their profits in sports and their irrefragable charm for the opposite sex. Well, here's your chance to take a good fall out of them.

These letters will be published each week until July 17. No letters will be received after July 16, at 5 p. m.

HERE'S THE LETTER.

Following is the letter which raises the question: "About What Do Men Lie Mosi?" of the Boston Evening American.

Dear Sir:

I know that men are generally credited with lying about their golf scores and that, between golf and fishing, it is a hard to get the truth these days, but I wonder if there are the only things that men lie about. Aren't there other subjects about which men seldom if ever tell the whole truth? And if so, what do men lie most about?

Very truly yours,

MRS. C. T. JONES.

Walham.

SIX ARE LEFT FATHERLESS BY DEADLY GAS

"If my habeas corpus proceedings are denied here I shall appeal the case and it will be October before the higher court can act," he said. Meanwhile he will write a book on his life and New England politics. The three officers from Massachusetts are expected in Austin, Tex., today and will present their extradition papers to Governor "Ma" Ferguson.

Action Comes on Heels of the Grand Jury Slap at the Abuse of Power

Close on the heels of the Grand Jury's lashing of the police for indiscriminate interference with personal liberty of citizens in liquor raids on private homes, came the disclosure today of a suit by Lawrence W. Welch of South Boston, a detective, and his wife, against three Boston policemen for an alleged unjustified raid.

The sued policemen, all members of the headquarters liquor squad, are Oliver B. Garrett, Daniel J. Welch and Thomas F. Daly. They are sued for $1,000 by Welch and for $2,000 by Mrs. Welch.

The suits, filed in Suffolk Superior Court, are the outcome of a search of the Welch home in West Seventh street, South Boston, on November 19, 1925, when the alleged Mrs. Welch was frightened and alarmed by the police, who entered the house "with force and arms."

Welch is connected with the Expressmen's Protective League and was formerly a policeman attached to Station 7. His shouting exploits have won him public attention in several large offices.

Replying to the charges, the policemen, through their counsel, declare that if they did interfere with the personal liberty of citizens and the sanctity of the home by unjustified liquor raids was warranted today by Boston attorneys prominent in public life.

A plea for either recognition of citizens' right to privacy in their own homes, as guaranteed in the constitution, was made by several men who cited cases in their own knowledge of unwarranted abuse of the power to search.

CITIZEN CASE.

Henry P. Felling, former assistant district attorney of Suffolk County, said:

"One of the cardinal principles of our liberty is that a man's home is his castle and its sanctity shall not be lightly invaded even by officers of the law. A case recently arose in my own practice where a police sergeant and patrolman obtained a search warrant in a district court upon no other evidence than an anonymous letter from someone presumably through spite or as a swindle. The home was searched and its occupants industrious, of high character. If there were many cases like the one I have cited, the right to privacy in the home would be nullified."

Peter J. Donaghy, labor attorney and former State representative, said:

"Great care should be used in issuing search warrants. It is the duty of a judge who hears evidence on the issue of a search warrant to see that it is not allowed to sit on the trial. I believe."

Sixth Defeat Given Coolidge on World Court

DROWNS IN POOL

WELCH, G. O. P. FOE, EASY VICTOR

North Dakota Made Foreign Entanglements Big Issue; President Backed Hanna

Fargo, N. D., July 2.—North Dakota has joined Pennsylvania, Oregon, Iowa, Illinois and Indiana in repudiating candidates for the United States Senate who favor American membership in the World Court.

North Dakota has done this by nominating, in its Republican primary Wednesday, Gerald P. Nye, who is only 32, to succeed himself in the United States Senate, where he is serving under appointment by Governor Smith.

The Republican voters of the State, in selecting Nye by a very substantial plurality, have rebuked the Coolidge administration, which openly backed a World Court advocate, L. B. Hanna, Nye's principal opponent.

A strange twist was given to the position story by Hanna, who conceded Nye's victory when the incomplete returns showed a majority of 4,000 for the Coolidge candidate. But it was evident then that the rural districts would return Nye a winner.

COOLIDGE MANAGER.

Hanna upheld the administration, sending the appeal, "Coolidge candidate" within the State. He was campaign manager for Coolidge in the 1924 presidential election.

A. C. Townsend, organizer of the Non-Partisan League, figured as an eighth-house candidate. "Strikers" were reported to be his friends in the first round from eighty-five counties gave him only one vote.

The Non-Partisan League Republicans appeared to have won all along the line. Incomplete returns showed Governor Smith a victor over J. M. Bentley, all traces of the present representatives in Congress were renounced.

Nye, who had courageously declared he would rather not be Senator than vote for the World Court, defended his opposition to foreign entanglements as indicated by his vote against the World Court in the Senate on January 27 last.

IN COOLIDGE POE.

The victory of Nye was a double one. He was actually elected to fill until March 4, 1927, the unexpired term of his deceased predecessor, and continued for the full term of six years over the pro-World Court election, Hanna.

Nye's victory will be a bitter disappointment for the Coolidge administration force, for he is a member of the Non-Partisan League which has been plying on the administration for full repeal of the McNary-Haugen Farm Relief Bill.

Nye is the only Republican in the Legislature who is allied with the La Follette-Brookhart-Johnson group.

GIVES WORKERS $2,000,000

Edgar B. Davis of Brockton, multimillionaire oil man, who last month set aside $1,000,000 in this State and a like sum in Texas as foundations for charity, has distributed an additional sum of approximately $2,000,000 in bonus money to the employees of his company.

The amounts were distributed by the length of employment, those with the company more than three years receiving a bonus of 100 per cent, an amount equalling all they have drawn in salary during their entire employment.

Those employed less than a year received a 50 per cent bonus, it was stated.

The foundation in this State, established by Mr. Davis, was to give special attention to needy orphans in Massachusetts, and particularly in Brockton and vicinity. It will be known as the Amy D. Pratt and Oscar C. Davis Foundation, in memory of the founder's brother and sister.

Edgar Davis, himself a millionaire, died four years ago, and the sister fifteen years ago.

Later Davis and his brother were notable examples of self-made men, both acquiring fortunes solely through their own efforts.

While Oscar resided in Brockton and eventually becoming a millionaire in real estate, his brother made his money in the oil business.

He turned his friends to the cause of his brother's philanthropic investments, with the result that some of Brockton people reaped a harvest.

Later Mr. Davis went into oil, with the result that they shared in the $12,000,000 obtained in a recent sale of a portion of his company's holdings in Luling field, Texas.

GAINE'S TRIAL IN AUGUST

Wallace "Bob" Gaines, father of pretty twenty-two-year-old Sylvia H. Gaines, South College graduate and Lynnfield resident, who was slain in Seattle, Wash., will not face trial on a charge of killing his daughter until next month, it was announced today.

Dispatches from Seattle added that the body of the girl will be sent to the home of her mother, Mrs. Harry E. Maynard of Clark road, Lynnfield, leaving Seattle today.

Prosecutor Edwin Cohn of Seattle expressed indignation when he learned that Robert McFarlane Gaines' attorney, asserted that "someone not far removed from the sheriff's office committed the crime."

After the finding of the body, Gaines, a World War veteran suffering from shell shock, although pronounced, demanded that he be tried. It was nearly two weeks, however, before he was placed under arrest on the charge of murder.

Miss Gaines had been attacked and brutally beaten with a rock before being strangled, an autopsy revealed.

Paris, July 2 (A.P.)—The fall in the franc to the new low level of 26.98 to the dollar and the uncertainty in Parliamentary circles, regarding the fate of the Briand-Caillaux Cabinet, when it faces the Chamber of Deputies next Tuesday, are reflected in today's newspaper.

The principal point in the report to Finance Minister Caillaux by the government's committee of experts was learned today, will be that the debt funding agreement with America must be ratified by Parliament as one of the first steps toward stabilizing the franc.

QUIGLEY'S NOTES CITED AT TRIAL

Notes outstanding after the 1924 campaign of Mayor Lawrence F. Quigley for election were given as a reason for demanding liquor protection money, according to testimony in the Chelsea rum conspiracy trial of the Mayor and 13 others in Federal Court today.

Jack London of Thornton street, Revere, testified he was in the liquor business in Chelsea in 1923, when he hired a garage at No. 204 Poplar street which was raided by Chelsea officers and alcohol seized.

Witness testified he went to see Mayor Quigley and quoted him as saying: "I will see Tom about it."

London said he also had hired a place at West and Marston streets, Chelsea, in December of 1924 and before opening was inspected by Thomas Quigley, brother of the mayor and fellow defendant.

London said Tom was here and asked him to call. Instead he said he was "Duke". Henry, who told him he could be "covered" for $50 a week.

That sum was too large, witness said, and he and another later repaid them were outstaying notes from Mayor Quigley's business campaign that must be paid. London said he paid Henry $25 after leaving this.

ADVERTISING OF A. & P. INCREASED $500,000

An increase of $50,000 to its advertising appropriation for the current year is announced by the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company. The bulk of this increase will go into newspaper advertising.

The half-million increase in the advertising budget will be devoted primarily to local advertising in every community where A. & P. is established. Part of this sum will also be used for a magazine campaign.

With a retail organization that reaches into the smallest as well as the largest communities of the country, the A. & P. is constantly in nearly every household for the familiar red front.

Because of the economy of its retail business the company has built in a buying organization that is world-wide. An army of buyers is constantly traveling through domestic food-producing areas.

HUB BROKER IN "FRAUD ORDER" DEMANDS HEARING

Ernest E. Smith, Boston broker, whose registration was revoked by the Public Utilities Commission, today appeared from the decline and the case was set for a hearing July 7. Smith's registration was revoked on the ground the company has been doing business in a "fraudulent" manner and "refrains from honestly" evading the "Blue Sky" law.

Watch for Craig Kennedy tomorrow. This fascinating character, made famous by Arthur E. Reeve, will appear each weekday in the Boston Evening American. Kennedy, the sleight-of-hand detective, solves mysteries in amazing fashion. Each episode in this absorbing new series is illustrated.

"Let the hills come as they may"

"Motor through the lovely Berkshires this summer. Reconstruct the stirring history of the Mohawk Trail. Take the main roads north, or south, or further west, or the shaded back roads that follow down the streams.

"See the wide and smiling valley where nestles North Adams, Mt. Graylock looming up beyond. Trim towns and friendly folk. Mountains everywhere.

"Places to camp. Hospitable hotels and farm houses. Wide skies.

"And wherever you go along the highways and the byways the familiar Socony pumps, the ever vigilant Socony service, will speed your way and smooth the hills."

BRILLIANT CEREMONY IN NORTH SHORE CHURCH UNITES LODGE AND SEARS FAMILIES

The Rt. Rev. William Lawrence, Episcopal Bishop of Massachusetts, and the Rev. Eugene V. J. Latham, rector of St. Peter's, Beverly, were the officiating clergy at the wedding of Henry Cabot Lodge and Emily Sears at Beverly, at which many of the Hub's social acquaintances were present.

SEEN AT WEDDING Mrs. Wallace Goodrich.

Many of the Hub's social acquaintances were in attendance at the Lodge-Sears marriage in St. Peter's Church, Beverly, and later went to the breakfast on the grounds of the bride's parents at Beverly Cove. Among the guests was Mrs. Wallace Goodrich.

1926 Summer Social Register Shows Trend Inland Rather Than to Shore

"THE SUMMER SEASON MAY BE A HIT LATE, IF JUDGED BY THE OFFICIAL THERMOMETER, but at the 1926 Summer Social Register has made its seasonal appearance the question of its being Summer from the social point of view is thus settled," announce the publishers and powers that be of that weighty little volume.

WITH THE SUMMER edition in hand many interesting facts of the fashionable world of "Who's Who" may be noted therein. For instance—outings have been rented, hotel reservations made and unneeded society devices, never long in one place, are for the summer installed with a Summer address.

YACHTS ARE IN CONCLUSION, returning travelers and noted summerers from abroad are beginning to equal departures for the other side, and all in all the Summer season of 1926 may be said to be formally open.

SPEAKING LOCALLY the New England coast is a leading favorite for Summer time outings, and other changes to be recorded show considerable light on what the trend of society is country or seashoreward.

"COUNTRY" HAS IT, so the Social Register states, where in are shown some two thousand addresses for inland dwellers more than for seashore. As always, Love Lodge retains a vast popularity.

THE HAMPTONS on Long Island retain superior numbers. Newport and Narragansett show a slight increase over last year, while the New Jersey seashore shows a loss in popularity since a year ago.

DAN CUPID IS NOT so high in favor this season, it seems, and despite many divorces and remarriages, the score of the little gods fails to come up to last year by more than half a hundred marriages.

THIS IS TO BE a yachting season par excellence, with handsome craft, of sail and steam, and the number of many many more to be added to the list before July 15th.

BUT, WHETHER Afloat or ashore, at home or abroad, if families are included in the magic small book that defines fashion's frontiers, then Summer addresses on this side or addresses abroad may be found within its covers.

WITH ECLAT and brilliance, the season of brides and romances came to its zenith with the marriage of Miss Emily Sears, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Henry F. Sears of Boston and Beverly Cove, to Henry Cabot Lodge, grandson of that noted statesman, the late Senator Henry Cabot Lodge.

RARELY BEAUTIFUL, rose point lace, at exquisite design and gorgeous texture, formed the wedding gown, veil and train. A long panel of the rose point, mounted on tulle, made the slender train.

THE GOWN ITSELF, of superb satin with tracery of silver was completely covered by rose point lace, and there was a graceful shoulder cape of the same lace. Rose point banded the bride's hair, and her bouquet was of tiny white orchids in lovely shower effect.

MRS. JEAN SEARS, sister of the bride and her sole attendant, was extremely handsome in iris blue velvet and blue hat. The gown was a ruffled affair, with shoulder streamers of tulle done in petals. Her flowers were ranunculus and larkspur.

FOR THE MOST important of weddings, brides a company of the ultra select motored to St. Peter's Church in Beverly for the high noon ceremonial and then went on to the Sears Summer estate near "Cove" for the wedding breakfast.

SEERS $1,000,000 FOR FRANKLIN MEMORIAL

Philadelphia, July 1 (AP)—A movement to erect a memorial to Benjamin Franklin in this city took definite form today when Norton Gibson-Soff, president of the Poor Richard Club, announced he would launch the project in the near future. He said the memorial would cost approximately $1,000,000 and that at plan was to conduct a nationwide campaign for funds to give children and patriotic societies an opportunity to contribute. He expressed the belief that the Poor Richard Club Committee would provide a site for the memorial.

QUIGLEY TRIAL SPEEDIED UP

A crowd approaching in dimensions those that attended the previous trial through Judge Morris' session of Federal court today to hear testimony in the run conspiracy case against Mayor Lawrence F. Quigley and thirteen others.

The case has been expedited by Judge Morris, with eight government witnesses already heard in the first week, leaving only about a dozen more.

As a result of the judge's action, examinations have been neither so long nor to yield as in the first trial.

The first witness today was August J. Scamell, former Boston newspaperman, who followed to the stand Lawrence L. Johnson, Chicago investigator.

Johnson told of investigating liquor conditions in Chicago in 1924 for a Boston newspaper, at which time he said he was informed by Eddie Carlin, alleged henchman, that he might split liquor for a price.

Scamell testified that he was assigned to write the story of John Quigley's investigation.

SAVED CLINGING TO TECH FLOAT

A call for help from the darkened depths of the Charles a few minutes before midnight summoned Thomas Dowling of No. 443 Main street and Samuel Wassestein of No. 241 Washington street to the aid of an aged man as he clung to the Tech float between the Harvard and West Boston bridges, his strength failing.

The men was unconscious for several hours at the Taylor Hospital. Today he was identified as Joseph Green of Commonwealth avenue, Boston.

How he happened to be in the river is a mystery police are trying to solve. He had apparently been in the water some time.

The two men were returning to the house when they heard a feeble call for help. Rushing to the falling they saw him clinging to the side of the float.

Both rushed to his aid and raised him slowly from the water. He collapsed.

Girl Is Hunting for 'Save a Life' Names

FOUND—The saddest vacation. It is being spent by Marie McLaughlin, a nineteen-year-old Brighton girl. Marie knows its meaning and is sounding it to its dismal depths.

She is leaving for two weeks to a desperate hunt for signatures on the petition to save her brother, John J. McLaughlin from the electric chair.

And in helping her Johnny, Miss McLaughlin is also ably aiding the democracy campaign in behalf of Edward J. Hanlon and John J. Devine.

Her father, who was a well-known figure in the city, was killed in the week of August 3 for the Wall Street murder.

Her days and nights, instead of attending the customary vacation rest and pleasure, are spent in a scuffling, heart-rending quest for names, ever more names—enough to fill long sheets—enough to insure the Governor.

"Of course it is discouraging at times, so much so that you just want to sit right down and cry, and when you think of those boys who forget the remarks and indifference of some persons and give your teeth and resolve to keep on," said Marie today.

"At first it seemed hard to interest people and to make them want to sign for. Occasionally you meet some grown up who cuts you dead, or makes some silly remark, not knowing you're one of their sisters. The

The latest crime-detecting inventions are made clear in the fascinating (Illustrated) Craig Kennedy series which begins tomorrow in the Boston Evening American. Arthur B. Reeve's famous character will appear each weekday. Do not miss a single installment.

ITALY ASSURES FREEDOM TO FOREIGN NEWSMEN
Rome, July 2 (A.P.)—Foreign newspaper correspondents in Italy are free to communicate news abroad, after Grandi, under Secretary for Foreign Affairs, said today in denying that the Fascist government was asserting a strict censorship on news for foreign countries. A correspondent of the Associated Press on behalf of the government, Grandi did not deny charges by the opposition that there was strict surveillance over activities and dispatches of foreign correspondents by local authorities. Dispatches were carefully read, which sometimes caused untimely delay, but he maintained, however, they are not refused transmission.

SENATE CURBS CIVIL SERVICE REMOVALS
Washington, July 2 (A.P.)—A joint resolution offered by Senator Hoffman, Democrat, Alabama, directing the Civil Service Commission, in removing the force of civil service from states which have an arcquo, was passed by the Senate and sent to the House. It would also direct the commission to employees, to make the separation of force of its quota except for cause.

$250 FOR WIFE MORE VETS TO OF IVORY GONE SEE FILM

The police report doesn't say, but John R. Ivory's wife is probably still in the hospital instead of at the Ivory home, Marion street, East Boston.

Ivory drew $250 out of a bank to pay her hospital bill and visit her at the same time at the Strong Hospital, East Boston, where she under an operation.

But he met two friends, Henry Olsen of Bremen place, East Boston, and Thomas J. Harkins of Mass. street.

Then Ivory discovered that his $250 was missing, a hubbub arose and he and his friends arrested but neither had a cent when arrested.

Ivory claimed they robbed him, but he asserted he was so drunk he knew nothing about his money.

In East Boston Court today he pleaded not guilty to a larceny charge. The case was continued for a week.

VOTE OF CENSURE ON BALDWIN DEFEATED
London, July 2 (A.P.)—A Labor motion, equivalent to a vote of censure on the Baldwin government, was defeated in the House of Commons today. The motion was rejected by the overwhelming vote of 258 to 18.

KIDNAP TALE OF EVANGELIST ATTACKED

Auto Tracks in Desert Said to Show She Approached Town in a Car

Tucson, Ariz., July 2 (A.P.)—The prevailing theory of women's skirts failed to save Theodore Sheel, a graduate of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, from a $50 fine today in East Cambridge, when he was arrested on a charge of annoying a woman in a Cambridge movie theatre. Women's skirts may be short, but Judge Arthur F. Stone said he could not take judicial notice of the fact. Sheelovsky was found guilty and paid the fine.

The complainant was Mrs. Elizabeth Lyons, twenty-one, of Harvard street, Cambridge. Sheelovsky's defense was that the shortness of Mrs. Lyons' skirts had accidentally placed him in an embarrassing position when he sat next to her in the theatre. When she crossed her knees they seemed even shorter, he said.

She slapped his back, she told the court, when he annoyed her.

The wife of the defendant, a strikingly attractive woman, testified in his behalf. Counsel for the complainant, herself a pretty woman, was more attractive than the complainant, herself a pretty woman.

Sheelovsky said he touched Mrs. Lyons when he sat down, he was not aware of it.

He lives in Webster street, Brookline, and is engaged in chemical work for a concern at Technology.

SEEK BODY OF MEHL, SLAIN LAND OWNER

New York, July 2 (A.P.)—John H. Mehl, wealthy Brooklyn land owner, was murdered and his body was probably buried somewhere near his home, in the opinion of police who today started a search for the body.

Samuel Berca, who is held without bail on charges of feloniously assaulting Mehl's sister Grace and his daughter Ruth, and who admits being present during the attack, today refused absolutely to name his companion on the night the assault took place.

THOUSANDS IN NAVAL RESERVES TO BE AFLOAT

Washington, July 2 (A.P.)—Training of several thousand naval reservists will start tomorrow and be carried on during July and August. Except in the case of some divisions of the Ninth Naval District, which will cruise on the Great Lakes, aboard vessels regularly assigned to reserve units, the cruises will be made on ships of the United States fleet. Three cruises have been arranged, to begin July 3 and 24 and August 24.

Two destroyer squadrons of the scouting fleet, consisting of 22 vessels, will be made available to reserve training in Atlantic and Gulf waters.

Smart, beyond a doubt—just as Miss Emilie Rolland of East Boston, one of the typically smartly clad girls who show under consideration. Then why are you not as she also under consideration?

All that is necessary is your photograph in whatever dress that is smart on you. Simply mail it to the Boston Girl of 1926 Editor, Boston Evening American, and you will be eligible for selection for the honors and distinction that in June in your choice. For the fine emblematic and cash awards the Boston Evening American makes when the fashion and art authorities competing the judges make their decision known next month.

The first cash award is $500, which goes to the girl chosen as The Boston Girl of 1926. The second and third are, respectively, $250 and $100 in gifts.

If you have no photograph available, come in and have one made free. Ask for The Boston Girl of 1926 Editor, Fourth Floor, Boston Evening American, No. 1, Winthrop square.

SEE KENNEDY TOMORROW

Craig Kennedy has and all other readers who like a rattling good detective yarn will get a treat tomorrow when the famous scientific detective, the creation of Arthur B. Reece, makes his appearance in the Boston Evening American.

These fascinating adventures of "Craig Kennedy" are presented in a novel form, that is in illustrated installments which graphically unfold the absorbing plots.

This feature begins tomorrow. Remember that if you want some real entertainment. An installment will be printed each day. Every installment has some surprise and brings the plot nearer to the climax when the master detective unravels the mystery.

Not the least interesting part of these adventures are the scientific devices which Kennedy uses to trap criminals and suspects.

Mr. Kennedy will introduce himself to you tomorrow in the pages of the Boston Evening American.

Felled by Hit-and-Run Car
A "hit-and-run" motorist in Washington street, Newton Lower Falls, occupied Cecil Sunderland, M.D., field State Hospital employee, from his motorcycle today. Fracturing his hand and inflicting cuts and bruises, two men took Sunderland to the Newton Hospital, while the police went in search of the driver.

Story of a Boston Girl Who Liked Jazz Music and the Bright Lights

As she stood there the clock struck 10. She knew that Tony wasn't coming.

READ THIS FIRST:

MERRY LOCKE, twenty, falls in love with ANTHONY GAINES, a young lawyer, the first time she sees him.

Tony insists that they wait six months before they decide to marry. He wants her to be sure of herself. But Merry doesn't want to wait. She has failed in her course at business college, and she wants to be married at once.

Her father dies suddenly, leaving the whole family dependent for support on CASSIE, the second sister, who is secretary to MORLEY KAUFMAN, and secretly yearns to marry him.

HELEN, the oldest of the sisters, marries BILL HEPPERT, a clerk in his father's wholesale grocery. Jimmy, the youngest sister, stays at home to help Mom with the housework.

Merry finds work in Madame Dale's beauty shop, and because she is so beautiful, she is able to see all the boys in town. One night when her mother returns from an out-of-town visit with her Cousin Louise, he doesn't come to see Merry as usual. Cassie warns her that he is treating her casually, as Morley Kaufman treats herself—keeping her in the background, and not introducing her to his family.

Merry thinks things over, and for the first time doubts if Tony really loves her. That night she lets DERRICK VES, who lives next door, kiss her as he has many times before. The following night, when Tony comes to see her, she tells him with veiled humor and resentment. Tony asks her to wait six months.

The next night Tony gives Merry a ring, and on their way home he tells her mother, she makes up her mind to tell him about Der-

Katherine McGrath Sees No Hope for Her Staying in Lowell

"Finis" has been written to the shattered romance of pretty Katherine McGrath, the 23-year-old bride-to-be of Donald M. Ferguson, self-confessed milk bottle slayer.

The last link that bound the girl to Ferguson when they plighted their troth nine months ago was broken forever when a tear stained application for a married license was returned to Lowell City Hall.

The divorce suit filed by Katherine McGrath would take time to hear, and she is expected to leave for her home in Lowell before the trial is heard.

As the battered body of Mrs. Ferguson was laid at rest under the sod of St. Vincent cemetery, a funeral procession of sorrowful friends gathered to bid her last farewell.

In the days that followed the death of her husband, Katherine McGrath was left alone to face the future.

She is now in a state of despair, and is expected to leave for her home in Lowell before the trial is heard.

One Confesses He Was Driven to Detroit Act by Fear of the "Gang of Nine"

Detroit, July 2.—With the $75,000 stolen Persian rug, gift of Mr. and Mrs. Edsel B. Ford, back in its case in the Institute of Arts, and three suspects in its theft jailed, police were hunting today for clues to the identity of the anonymous New York millionaire implicated by one of the trio as instigator of the robbery.

These fell from the net of a Detroit police officer, John M. Cohen, 47, nine, and William Thackeray, twenty-two, Howard and Thackeray are employees of an ad agency using firm and Cohen is an attorney.

Compelled by threat to abandon his job, Henry Louis Walton (famous actor) and his model, ordered to "go away for a while" found that the man who had been found in a long list of recent robberies, was the man who had been found in a long list of recent robberies.

YANK ACE SUCCUMBS IN JOUST

Kinney Unable to Cope With Bounding Basque; Misses Browne-Ryan Triumph

Wimbledon, England, July 2 (A. P.)—America's lawn tennis star won one of the Wimbledon championship honors today but lost another. Miss Mary Browne and Miss Elizabeth Ryan captured the women's doubles title from Mrs. K. H. McNamee and Miss Mary Browne. Kinney, who had won the title in 1925, was defeated by the British pair in the first round of the doubles tournament. Kinney's defeat was a surprise, as he had been considered one of the favorites to win the title. The match was a close one, with Kinney leading for much of the first set, but Browne and Ryan took control in the second set. Kinney's performance was criticized by some of the spectators, who felt that he was out of sync and lacked his usual precision.

THREE EVENTS ON L STREET SWIM CARD

Three events predominate the half-day swimming festival sponsored by the New York City Amateur Athletic Association and conducted under the auspices of the "L" Street Swimming Club. The events are a 100-yard freestyle, a 200-yard freestyle, and a 400-yard freestyle. The festival is held at the L Street Swimming Club, which is located on the L Street in New York City. The events are expected to attract a large number of spectators, and the winners will receive prizes and medals.

VINTON'S WIN IS POPULAR WITH ALL

By BILL GIBBES
One of the most popular victories in the history of the Massachusetts Open championship was won by Donald Vinton, a member of the New York City Golf Club, who defeated Mike Brady in the final round of the tournament. Vinton's victory was a popular one, as he was a well-known and respected player. The match was a close one, with Brady leading for much of the first set, but Vinton took control in the second set. Vinton's performance was praised by the spectators, who felt that he was in top form and played with great precision.

No Luck for Tardy in Open

CHAMBERS, N. Y., July 2 (A. P.)—A golfer who was unable to tee off next week in the national open golf tournament will find himself out of luck. The golfer, who is named Tardy, is a member of the New York City Golf Club. He was unable to tee off because of a problem with his golf club. The tournament is being held in New York City, and the winner will receive a large prize and a trophy. Tardy's situation is unfortunate, as he was one of the favorites to win the tournament.

Royalty Watches

WIMBLEDON, July 2 (A. P.)—A most fashionable audience turned out to see Don Budge, Howard Kinsey of California in the men's final. The Queen of Spain, Anahad, and the King of Spain, Alfonso XIII, were in the stands. The match was a close one, with Budge leading for much of the first set, but Kinsey took control in the second set. Budge's performance was praised by the spectators, who felt that he was in top form and played with great precision.

DOBBY DEFENDS HAGEN

WIMBLEDON, July 2 (A. P.)—Dobby, who was defeated by Kinsey in the first round of the Wimbledon championship, defended Hagen, who was defeated by Kinsey in the second round. Dobby's defense was a surprise, as he had been considered one of the favorites to win the title. The match was a close one, with Hagen leading for much of the first set, but Kinsey took control in the second set. Dobby's performance was praised by the spectators, who felt that he was in top form and played with great precision.
